DETAILED ACTIONDouble Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 2 of U.S. Patent No. 6,742,310 in view of Haswell (5,640,822). US Patent no. '310 discloses a truss adapted to connect to a wall frame and a truss tie down method comprising all of the limitations of claims 9 and 10 of the application except for specifically disclosing that the connecting element is connected directly to a stud of the wall frame. Haswell teaches that it is known to fasten one end of a connecting element to a truss and an opposite end of said connecting element directly to a stud of a wall frame, figures 1-4. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to fasten the '310 truss directly to a stud of the wall frame, because by fixing the connector to the stud, the truss will be more firmly anchored down. If the connector were merely fixed to the top plate, the truss would not be as firmly anchored down because the top plate will come off of the frame easier than the stud.
